Thank you for your interest!

I'm in a mobile application class at school and I'm creating an app for an on-going project. The primary goal in my app is to allow users to more easily "plan" trips to places they've never been, and they'll do this with help from you! All of the content available on the app will be user-generated. This is where I need some of your help!

If you could spare a few minutes and write up a "plan" with tips, secrets, warnings, etc. for visiting any kind of destination, I would appreciate it! You can send it to me in document form (.doc, .pdf, etc.) or in an email message body (grant.standridge@gmail.com). This is so I can begin to populate my database and have a foundation of content to work with as I create my API. That just means I'm giving other users a way to view what you wrote. It's how basic applications work.

Ideally, these plans and tips come from first-hand experience(s), and they tell of what you did, where you did it, level of satisfaction, and so on (be sure to put your name!) Also, one of the more important pieces of information I need is who/for-how-long this plan is for. Below is a link to an example I wrote. There is no length limit or requirement, and you don't have to copy the format exactly; it's simply an idea of what I'm looking for:

The destinations could be anywhere and any kind. Some examples:
• Family trips (specify adult or kid-friendly)
• Anniversaries
• Honeymoons
• Day-trips
• Theme Parks
• Cities
• Countries
• State/Nat'l Parks
• and so on!
